

InfowarCon 2018 - Call for Papers is OPEN

Conference to be held at National Conference Center, Leesburg, VA

SANFORD, N.C. - Feb. 20, 2018 - PRLog -- Winn Schwartau has passed the baton for InfowarCon. "We survived a massive hurricane in DC, set off 1-Terwatt EMPs, wrote Cyberwar Arms Treaties, and, in retrospect, InfowarCon was 20+years ahead of its time. We held InfowarCon events in DC, London and Brussels, appeared at similar events around the world, and finally, I decided to return to our roots. Instead of building up a massive vendor-driven event, we held a few small events (70 attendees) in Nashville. For very personal reasons, I made the tough call and decided to look for another group to take the reins."

May May 17-19, InfowarCon returns to the DC area under the leadership of my dear friend, Travis Hartman and his colleagues, William Kimble and James Wright."

The new team has announced the date this year. The conference will be located at the National Conference Center in Leesburg, VA. The meeting will be preceded by two training days with launch of InfowarCon on May 17-19, 2018. Plan to attend InfoWarCon 2018 Visit www.infowarcon.com for more information or please contact Betty O'Hearn at 727-409-1754.

US House of Representative, Will Hurd – 25th District, Texas has been invited to open the conference. Matthew G. Devost will conduct a "fireside chat" with Representative Hurd.

Sponsorships are available.
